- Happy New Year! And New Decade! And Happy 95th Anniversary to the Forest Lodge Library!
- We had 9 people in attendance at our MAKERSPACE: Quick, Re-Cycled, Low-Cost Christmas on Thursday, December 12th. We made large folded paper ornaments out of recycled books, Christmas cards using recycled buttons and a spa sugar scrub for dry winter skin. And ornaments made of candy. It was fun and festive.
- Our other Christmas season offering was a series of “read by a warming fire” events on three consecutive Saturdays. We had people in attendance for two of the three. Folks enjoyed cocoa, cookies...and Sidney and I reading aloud some Christmas classics. We may try this again next year, but, probably not three weekends.
- We continue to work on developing a plan for a capital campaign and to meet our fund-raising goal for our facility expansion project. We have recently met with Jim Radford of the Baker Street group out of Stevens Point. He will be visiting us again next week. The Baker Street group has considerable experience working with libraries, including smaller libraries, which makes them seem like a good fit for our project.
- This being our 95th year, we’d like to try to collect (at least) “95 Memories of the Forest Lodge Library.” If you have one...please send it along!
- We look forward to another productive year at the Forest Lodge Library and to letting you know all about it. Keep track of what we’re up to by following us on Facebook...or visiting us in person...or at forestlodgelibrary.org.
